BRIDGETON CITIZENS ADVICE BUREAU

BRIDGETON CITIZENS ADVICE BUREAU

Information to applicants

Citizens Advice Bureaux are the major providers of holistic information, advice and assistance, operating from 205 service points that cover Scotland from the islands to the City Centres.

The Bureaux are staffed by trained volunteer advisers under the supervision of the manager and provide responses to clients' enquiries covering the whole range of social issues. Despite being a generalist service, most enquiries are concerned with matters related to problems of poverty and deprivation.

Each Bureau is wholly independent and receives funding from their respective local Councils in the form of annual grants. Bureaux are autonomous bodies under the control of a local Board of Directors. These consist of representatives of local statutory and voluntary agencies, elected members of the public, and staff representatives.

All bureaux are members of Citizens Advice Scotland (the Scottish Association of CABx), and as such must meet specific conditions of membership related to standards of service and other matters. The Association receives financial support from central government through the UK Government Department of Business Innovation and Skills.

Enquiries are across a wide range of fields, and clients expect high quality advice and assistance (including representation at tribunals and in Court when appropriate) on what are, at times, highly complex matters. The main enquiries at the present time relate to problems with welfare benefits and money; employment; goods and services; housing; and family and personal situations.

All CAB posts demand a high level of commitment and will involve a flexible approach to working. No overtime payments are made, but time off in lieu is given. Expenses are reimbursed for travel related to approved duties.

Data protection principles

In relation to your personal data, we will:

- process it fairly, lawfully and in a clear, transparent way only use it in the way that we have told you about ensure it is correct and up to date

keep it only for as long as we need it process it in a way that ensures it will not be used for anything that you are not aware of or have not consented to (as appropriate) process it in a way that ensures it will not be lost or accidentally destroyed

Types of data we process

Personal data, or personal information, means any information about an individual from which that person can be identified. It does not include data where the identity has been removed (anonymous data).

We will hold the following types of data about you, during the recruitment and selection process:

- your personal details including your name, title, address, personal email address, personal phone numbers
- whether or not you have a disability, in order that we can make suitable adjustments to our recruitment and selection processes
- information included on your application form, including references, education history and employment history
- information used for equal opportunities monitoring purposes, which will be held separately from any other documentation provided by you and which will not be attributable to you
- documentation relating to your right to work in the UK

How we collect your data

We collect data about you in a variety of ways, this will include the information you would normally provide in an application form or a job application cover letter, or notes made by our recruitment panel during a recruitment interview. Further information will be collected directly from you when you complete forms at the start of your employment, for example, your bank and emergency contact details. Other details may be collected directly from you in the form of official documentation such as your passport or other right to work evidence.

In some cases, we will collect data about you from third parties, such as from former employers when gathering references.

Personal data is kept in personnel files and IT System within the Bridgeton Citizens Advice Bureau.

Why we process your data

The law on data protection allows us to process your data for certain reasons only:

- in order to perform the employment contract that we are party to
- in order to carry out legally required duties
- in order for us to carry out our legitimate interests
- to protect your interests and
- where something is done in the public interest.

All of the processing carried out by us falls into one of the permitted reasons. Generally, we will rely on the first three reasons set out above to process your data.

We need to collect your personal data to ensure we are complying with legal requirements such as:

- carrying out checks in relation to your right to work in the UK
- making reasonable adjustments for disabled employees.

We also collect data so that we can carry out activities which are in the legitimate interests of Bridgeton CAB. We have set these out below:

- making decisions about who to offer employment to
- making decisions about salary and other benefits
- assessing training needs
- dealing with legal claims made against us

If you are unsuccessful in obtaining employment, we may seek your consent to retain your data in case the outcome of the recruitment process changes or other suitable job vacancies arise at Bridgeton CAB for which we think you may wish to apply. You are free to withhold your consent to this and there will be no consequences for doing so.

Special categories of data

There are "special categories" of more sensitive personal data which require a higher level of protection. Special categories of data are data relating to:

- information about your health, including any medical conditions
- information about your sex life or sexual orientation
- information about your race, ethnicity, religious beliefs or political opinions

- information about trade union membership
- genetic and biometric data.

We must process special categories of data in accordance with more stringent guidelines. Most commonly, we will process special categories of data when the following applies:

- you have given explicit consent to the processing
- we must process the data in order to carry out our legal obligations
- we must process data for reasons of substantial public interest
- you have already made the data public.

We will use your special category data:

- for the purposes of equal opportunities monitoring
- in order to make appropriate adjustments to the recruitment and selection process if you have a disability

We do not need your consent if we use special categories of personal data in order to carry out our legal obligations or exercise specific rights under employment law. However, we may ask for your consent to allow us to process certain particularly sensitive data. If this occurs, you will be made fully aware of the reasons for the processing. As with all cases of seeking consent from you, you will have full control over your decision to give or withhold consent and there will be no consequences where consent is withheld. Consent, once given, may be withdrawn at any time. There will be no consequences where consent is withdrawn.

Criminal conviction data

We will only collect criminal conviction data where it is appropriate given the nature of your role and where the law permits us to do so. This data will usually be collected at the recruitment stage, however, may also be collected during your employment should you be successful in obtaining employment. We use criminal conviction data to determine your suitability for the post and to provide a safeguard for our clients and volunteers.

If you do not provide your data to us

One of the reasons for processing your data is to allow us to carry out an effective recruitment process. Whilst you are under no obligation to provide us with your data, if you do not provide it we may not be able to process your application.

Sharing your data

Your data will be shared with colleagues within Bridgeton CAB where it is necessary for them to undertake their duties with regard to recruitment and selection. This includes, for example, trustees from our board of directors, the bureau manager, any other individuals who are involved in screening your application and interviewing you.

Your data will be shared with third parties if you are successful in your job application. In these circumstances, we will share your data in order to obtain references as part of the recruitment process. We may also share your data with Disclosure Scotland, if criminal record checks are required for the post in question.

We do not share your data with bodies outside of the European Economic Area.

Protecting your data

We are aware of the requirement to ensure your data is protected against accidental loss or disclosure, destruction and abuse. We have implemented processes to guard against such. Data is held in locked filing cabinet in the Managing Directors office.

Where we share your data with third parties, we provide written instructions to them to ensure that your data is held securely and in line with GDPR requirements. Third parties must implement appropriate technical and organisational measures to ensure the security of your data.

Data Retention / How long we keep your data for

In line with data protection principles, we only keep your data for as long as we need it for and this will depend on whether or not you are successful in obtaining employment with us.

If your application is not successful, we will keep your data for three months after the recruitment exercise ends. If you have consented to our retaining your data in case future vacancies arise, we will keep it for a maximum of six months.

At the end of this period, we will delete or destroy your data, unless you have already withdrawn your consent to our processing of your data in which case it will be deleted or destroyed upon your withdrawal of consent.

If your application is successful, your data will be kept and transferred to the systems we administer for employees. We have a separate privacy notice for employees, which will be provided to you.

Automated decision making

No decision about you, which may have a significant impact on you, will be made solely on the basis of automated decision making - i.e. where a decision is taken about you using an electronic system without human involvement.

Your rights in relation to your data

The law on data protection gives you certain rights in relation to the data we hold on you. These are:

- The right to be informed. This means that we must tell you how we use your data, and this is the purpose of this privacy notice
- The right of access. You have the right to access the data that we hold on you. To do so, you should make a subject access request
- The right for any inaccuracies to be corrected. If any data that we hold about you is incomplete or inaccurate, you are able to require us to correct it
- The right to have information deleted. If you would like us to stop processing your data, you have the right to ask us to delete it from our systems where you believe there is no reason for us to continue processing it
- The right to restrict the processing of the data. For example, if you believe the data we hold is incorrect, we will stop processing the data (whilst still holding it) until we have ensured that the data is correct
- The right to portability. You may transfer the data that we hold on you for your own purposes
- The right to object to the inclusion of any information. You have the right to object to the way we use your data where we are using it for our legitimate interests

- The right to regulate any automated decision-making and profiling of personal data. You have a right not to be subject to automated decision making in way that adversely affects your legal rights.

Where you have provided consent to our use of your data, you also have the unrestricted right to withdraw that consent at any time. Withdrawing your consent means that we will stop processing the data that you had previously given us consent to use. There will be no consequences for withdrawing your consent. However, in some cases, we may continue to use the data where so permitted by having a legitimate reason for doing so.

If you wish to exercise any of the rights explained above, please contact Frank Mosson, Manager.

Making a complaint

The supervisory authority in the UK for data protection matters is the Information Commissioner (ICO). If you think your data protection rights have been breached in any way by us, you are able to make a complaint to the ICO.
